C. ASSEY,
Act'g Ass. Sec. to Govt. Mil. Dept.

We are happy to announce to the public that accounts have been received from Banjar Massing, of a very favorable description. The British Resident and Commissioner Mr. Hare, had been received at the Sultan's Court with the most particular respect and attention, and had been hailed throughout His Highness's dominions as the deliverer of that once powerful Kingdom. A treaty of friendship and alliance had been concluded with his Highness, highly conducive to the British interest and confirming to Great Britain in perpetuity all the rights and privileges formerly possessed by the Dutch dynasty.

Our correspondent writes in the most rapturous terms of the beauty and richness of the country through which the Resident with his suite had recently made a tour, and anticipates, with every appearance of reason, to to the English Government, the greatest commercial and political advantages, from the permanent establishment of the British influence on the Island.

The Garrison were extremely healthy, and conducted themselves with the greatest propriety.

NATIONAL EDUCATION.

As a subject of peculiar gratification to the philanthropist and lover of Mankind, we communicate the very rapid progress made throughout the British Empire, in diffusing the blessings of education among the poorer classes of the community.

By the returns laid before the Royal Lancastrian Society, it appears that during the three years 1807, 1808 and 1809, the enlightened founder of the New System performed twelve journies, travelling 3062 miles, in the course of which he delivered seventy-four lectures, which were attended by 25,650 persons, that the subscription raised in consequence of these exertions for promoting the plan in each place, where he had preached the doctrine of right to the poor, amounted to £11,850, and that no less than 45 schools for the instruction of 11,300 children were founded in different parts of England, in consequence of these journies and lectures, and that the whole of these were organised under his immediate direction.

Important however as these labours appear, his exertions in 1810 far exceeded them. In that year he travelled 3775 miles, delivered sixty-seven lectures to 23,480 persons, raised at the time £1660, and afterwards £5250, established no less than fifty new schools, at which 14,200 children are educated, and if we suppose his progress during the last year only equal to the preceding, we shall have for the whole individual exertions of Mr. Lancaster during five years, in the one department of travelling only 208 lectures delivered to 72,610 persons, about £27.000 raised in consequence, 145 schools established, and about 40,000 poor children constantly taught. If we state the whole number of children, who owe to this distinguished person one of the first of blessing 100,000, we certainly do not exaggerate the effects of his system.

It is worthy of observation that the above statement refers only to England. Similar establishments have been formed in Scotland, and we learn with considerable delight that some of the parochial schools in that country are adopting the same system.

Mr. Lancaster was at the date of the last accounts, where he is exerting himself with equal success in the same generous cause, under the immediate patronage of Mr. W. W. Pole, and extensive establishments are in contemplation. Some large schools have already been opened and what is most singular, though these are exclusively taught by Protestant Masters, yet they are resorted to indiscriminately by Catholics and Protestants.

Such is the pleasing account furnished us by a recent number of the Edinburgh Review, from which the friends of the poor, may with reason, anticipate the most happy effects. It is true that this system has met with opponents, but this is the common fate of every beneficient institution; "be thou as pure as ice, as chaste as snow, thou shalt not escape calumny." Among its adversaries we regret to find, (though it is generally supported by the establishment,) the names of some dignified prelates. The pulpit even has been resorted to on the occasion, and the chair of St. Paul's polluted by the violent and disgusting Philippics of a Right Reverend Divine, well known as the Author of a bulky Ministerial pamphlet in defence of the War. He has availed him of the old and hackneied cry, of "the Church in danger," and his sentiments have been re-echoed by all the London Journals in the pay of the Treasury. Notwithstanding, however, these formidable efforts of bigotry and intolerance it is consolatory to learn from the same respectable source from which we have derived the foregoing information, that the cause of truth is still likely to prevail over all its assailants, and the Philanthropic Britain may still, through the exertions of one individual, look forward to the realization of that wish expressed by his Monarch, that "the day may arrive, when every poor man's child throughout the country, shall be able to read his bible."

EPIGRAMS.

On Mr. Owen More's absconding from his creditors.

Owen More has run away
Owing more than he could pay.

On a trial in Dublin, some short time since, when Lord Norbury presided as Judge, the following circumstance occurred:—The Serjeant at More had a writ against a man, but meeting a painter who resembled the debtor he arrested him by mistake, who brought an action for the false arrest. Lord N. remarkable for his readiness at an epigram wrote the following lines:—

Why sue me at law says the Serjeant at mace,
To the Painter he took by mistake;
If the Debtor you're like, 'tis a very hard case,
None but Painters a likeness can take.

Mr. D——y of the Irish bar, seeing these lines, wrote the following:—

Mr. Serjeant your conduct is quite a disgrace,
Instructions are lost upon you;
Let me tell you my friend, tho' you're up to the [mace
For once you've mistaken your cue.

On a Gentleman with a long nose, imitated from the Greek.

Dick cannot wipe his nostrels if he pleases,
(So long his nose is and his arm so short)
Nor ever cries "god bless me," when he sneezes
He cannot hear so distant a report.

The modern cure for Love.

Cries Sappho—"Venus heavenly fair
"To whom our lofty temples rise,
"Who gently layst the secret snare
"In which the bleeding lover dies."

"Propitious power! my soul inspire
"And shield from ev'ry danger nigh,
"Descend and tune my warbling lyre
"If ere thou heardst a lover's cry;

"Oh yes, thou heardst my burning sighs,
"Beholdst my copious sorrows flow,
"Leave once again thy native skies
"And bring with thee relief from woe!"
Disguis'd the Goddess straight way enter'd in,
A dirty pot girl with a pint of gin.

Mr. Grizzle and Miss Wrinkle.

An entire new and Pathetic Song.

When violets blossom in the grove
And hermits whistle notes of love,
When jocund swains with milk-maids rove,
To tell the artless tale.

Miss Molly Wrinkle faultering cries,
"I feel emotions constant rise,
"O spare a blushing virgin's sighs
"For Mr. Grizzle in the vale."

Now Grizzle's face would give the lie
To every feeling love might try,
His tender heart was all my eye
'Twould blunt a rusty nail.

Says he "pray Molly do'nt be rash
"Your smiles I cannot turn to cash,
"Hearts, darts and cupids, all are trash
"To Mr. Grizzle in the vale."

A wither'd Lily Molly lay
The Rose bad time had cut away
And ebon locks had turn'd to grey,
Alas what could prevail?

Stiff as a ram-rod Molly grew
And every art she tried a new,
To rouse that little worse than Jew
Mr. Grizzle in the vale.

A monument of skin and grief
Miss Molly moan'd without relief,
While Mr. Grizzle eat his beef
And supp'd his can of Ale.

Ye gods what havoc love can make
For death thought fit at last to take
Miss Molly from that barb'rous rake,
Mr. Grizzle in the vale.

The village Gossips soon arose
Grizzle at last uneasy grows,
He bit his lips, he blew his nose,
When told the woeful tale.

A coroner's quest her exit tried
The verdict no one there denied,
Miss Molly Wrinkle, Spinster died,
For Grizzle in the vale.

J. ADAM,

Yesterday forenoon, the Honorable Company's extra ship Harriett, Captain Lynch, laying at the Honorable Company's Chain Moorings, close to Chaundpaul Ghaut, (with great part of her cargo on board, and nearly ready to proceed down the river to complete it,) unfortunately took fire, (we believe in the Fore-hold,) the alarm was instantly given, and the most prompt assistance was afforded by the Departments of the Master Attendant, the Naval Store Keeper, and the Harbour Master, with their Boats and People, also the Boats Officers and People of the different Ships laying off the Town; the activity of Commodore Hayes on this melancholy occasion, was particularly conspicuous; he was almost the first on board, accompanied by an Engine; all his department were upon the alert; the progress of the flames were however so rapid as to baffle all human exertion, the ship was cut from the Moorings to prevent the fire communicating with the contiguous shipping, and she swang upon the bank, immediately below Chaundpaul Ghaut, where she was scuttled, so that the water just covered the Orlop Deck, and we understand much of the cargo in the hold may probably be saved, no doubt, somewhat damaged.

At the time the paper was put to press, the flames were still raging violently, not then having reached the water's edge.

The scene was awfully sublime—and attracted an immense concourse of spectators.—The agility of the fearless Mariners—amidst the falling of masts, yards, and rigging, enveloped with flames and smoke, presented a view terrific beyond hasty description.

Had this melancholy accident happened upon a flood tide, the damage would doubtless have been almost incalculable, amongst the crowded tiers of valuable ships laying immediately to the Northward of the Harriett, very fortunately in this lamentable case, the Harriett was the most southerly of all the shipping laying at the Calcutta Chain Moorings.

We lament to add that since writing the above, the Salt Petre Cargo, in the hold has blown up with several terrible explosions—and literally covered the esplanade with sulphur;—there are now no hopes of but very trifling fragments of the wreck being saved.

His Majesty's frigate Modeste, Captain Crawford, bound to England, passed Kedgeree on Monday last.

The ship Union, Captain Finch, from Mauritius the 8th Aug. has arrived at this port.—Passenger:—The Rev. D. Corrie.

Captain Owen, of the Bengal army, and Captain Garden, of the country service, who have lately returned from England, arrived a few days ago in Calcutta from Madras, with the ship Commerce.

The H. C. Ships Indus, Lord Keith, and Ann, were not expected to sail from Madras, before the 5th of October. At this advanced period of the season, therefore, their arrival here may probably be delayed till near the end of the month.

The Governor and Managers of the Orphan Society have been pleased to nominate the Rev. Doctor John Young to the situation of Secretary to the Society, vacant by the death of the late Mr. Bretzeke.

A very distressing accident happened last Thursday evening, to Mr. Francis Baillie, son of the late Major William Baillie of Engineers. On firing a musquet the piece burst near the chamber of the barrel, the fragments of which, together with the greater part of the charge were thrown against Mr. Baillie's left hand, which in consequence was dreadfully shattered. The youth was conveyed to the Native Hospital, and on examination of the wound, amputation of the hand was found necessary. The operation was immediately performed; and we are happy to add, that Mr. Baillie is in a promising way of recovery.

A melancholy accident occurred on Sunday evening, in the case of Mr. Robinson of the Bengal Civil Establishment, a youth of about eighteen years of age, and who arrived from England only three months ago. Taking his usual ride on horseback, he had reached the Burying Ground Road, when his horse taking fright, ran off; Mr. Robinson was thrown upon the road with great violence, by which his skull was fractured, and the brain so much injured, that he was taken up in a state of insensibility. Being carried home, medical assistance was obtained; but the injury he had received, proved fatal; he died in the course of an hour after the fall.

On the same day, the cooper of the Honorable company's ship Marquis Wellesley, now in dock, fell from the gangway board to the bottom of the dock, and was killed on the spot.

SUPPLEMENT TO THE JAVA GOVERNMENT GAZETTE.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1812.

Proclamation.

THE Right Honorable the Governor General having by Prolamation under date the 11th September 1811, judged it expedient to provide a Fund for the gradual liquidation of the Paper Currency, or for reducing it's amount within such limits as may appear convenient and advantageous to the Public, and to direct that the said Paper should be charged with an annual duty of 5 per cent on the value there fixed to be levied on the renewal of the Stamp, the Honorable the Lieutenant Governor in Council in pursuance thereof, is pleased to direct that the said duty be forthwith levied for the present year, and notice is in consequence hereby given that Messrs. Boswell, Van Beusechem, Kamphuis, S. Bredero, Schill, Killian, Barends and Reinking are appointed under the Superintendance of the Secretary to Government to attend from the 1st of December next, until the 31st day of January next ensuing daily, Sundays and Christmas-day excepted, from 8 o'clock till noon, for the purpose of receiving the duty of 5 per cent, and re-stamping such Paper Notes of Individuals, as shall be presented for that purpose.

2.—For the convenience of the Public, two Offices will be established, one at the Stadt-house, and one at the Government House, Molenvliet, at both of which attendance will be given daily as above directed.

3.—By this arrangement it is deemed that sufficient time will be given for all the paper in circulation to be stamped, and therefore notice is further given that it is the positive intention of Government not to extend the stampment of the paper currency after the 31st January next.

4.—With a view to ensure an early tender of the Paper for Stampment, the new duty of 5 per cent shall affect all Paper whatever, Stamped or not, from the 1st January, 1813, and from and after that date no Paper which has not been re-stamped, shall be a legal tender under the Proclamation of the 11th September, 1811, except with the deduction or allowance of 5 per cent for the said duty.

5.—All Paper which may not have been re-stamped before the 1st February, 1813, will cease to be acknowledged after that date.

6—A commission will he appointed at Samarang and Sourabaya to re-stamp such paper as may be presented for that purpose, and will sit from the 15th December 1812, until the 31st January/1813, as above stated.

That no person may plead ignorance of this Proclamation the same is directed to be published in the English and Dutch languages in the next and two subsequent Gazettes, and translated into the Native languages and affixed at the usual places at Batavia, Samarang and Sourabaya.

Dated at Batavia, this 27th Nov. 1812.

ADDITIONAL SUPPLEMENT TO THE JAVA GOVERNMENT GAZETTE.

SUPREME COURT OF JUSTICE.

On Thursday, being the first day of the fourth Term of the present year, the Court was opened with the usual formalities.

Their Lordships were entirely occupied in hearing the motions of the several Barristers, and adjourned at an early hour to this day. The number of suit in Equity at present on the file, is unusually great, few however, are of any interest. In the Sittings, about the latter end of next month, a cause will come before their Lordships, in which Lieut. Oliver is Plaintiff, and Lieut. Charles Hamilton Bell, Defendant. It is a case of Crim. Con.

Thursday last, a Coroner's Inquest was held on the body of a Portuguese Sailor, who drowned himself in a tank near the Byt'ha-Khana. The circumstances which led to this man's death are worthy of notice: It appears that he had been without employment for some time past, and had greatly addicted himself to drinking; returning home in a state of intoxication on Thursday morning, his mother upbraided him with his dissolute habits; being enraged at her reproaches, the wretch seized the helpless old woman and carried her to a neighbouring tank, where he attempted to drown her; in this he was fortunately prevented by the timely interference of two persons, against whom he then directed all his rage, and actually succeeded in throwing one of them into the water, from whence he was taken in a lifeless state. The Portuguese seaman, stimulated either by the exacerbations of his own wrath, or by fear of the consequences of these murderous attempts, plunged into the tank, and was drowned.

India Gazette, Sept. 28, 1812.

His Majesty's Frigate Modeste is expected to sail for England in the course of a few days. The final packet for the Guildford was despatched from town on Monday evening last; and that ship put to sea on Friday morning. The Regent and Earl St. Vincent have also sailed from Saugor since our last.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM ON BOARD THE REGENT.

" September 21, 1812.

"We have met with so many misfortunes since I last addressed you, I am almost astonished at our having escaped destruction. Yesterday evening we broke one of our largest anchors; and the ship drifted upwards of two miles before it was observed. Fortunately, however, the alarm was given at day-break in the morning, just as the ship was tailing the breakers on the long sand. In less than five minutes more, we should certainly have been aground.

"To-day, our ill fortune seemed still to follow us; another of our anchors having broken, two feet below the stock: and the ship was so completely water-logged, by taking in water at her hawse-holes, that we were very near going to the bottom. I hope however, that we are now at length clear of our dangers."

The Hamaun Shaw, we understand, was going to pieces very rapidly on Saugor beach, the beginning of last week; and it was feared that but little of the property on board would be preserved.

On the 5th current, the Arab ship Futhool-kire was abandoned by her crew, who arrived at Bissenpoor on the same day in the ship's launch. The Futhool Kire was last seen in a sinking condition, under the east end of Saugor.

His Excellency the Commander in Chief and suite were expected to reach Cawnpore on the 16th or 17th current.

On Wednesday the 5th August, the Honorable Mount Stuart Elphinstone, the British Resident with his Highness the Peishwa took leave of the Pandeirpour Camp, at a dinner given by Major Mahony and the officers of the Grenadier battalion; the table exhibited the best viands that could be procured, and the wines were excellent. After dinner the President gave the following toasts:—

The Prince Regent.

Lord Minto and the Government of India.

Mr. Elphinstone, and may continued success and happiness attend him through life.—This toast was drank "three times three" with the greatest enthusiasm.

The policy of the times that gives us such agreeable company.

Lord Wellington and the armies in Spain and Portugal.

Several capital Songs and Duets were given with great taste and in good voice; the utmost conviviality prevailed, and between 11 and 12 o'clock, the company broke up with one general feeling of regret at the departure of their much esteemed and highly respected guest.

Bengal Hurkaru, July 18, 1812.

The cause in which Patrick Craufurd Bruce, Henry Fawcett, George Simson, John De Ponthieu, William Craufurd, James Pennington, John Forbes, and James Henry Craufurd, Merchants of Bombay, are Plaintiffs, and the Hon. E. I Company and William Egerton, are Defendants, is expected to be heard in a few days.

The object of this Suit is to oblige the Company to give an 8 per cent. Promissory Note in exchange for a Bombay Certificate, under the conditions of the Bombay Loan, of the 2d of September 1809. The Interest on about Thirty Lacs of Rupees, is depending on the issue of this Suit.

The Plaintiffs subscribed 25,000 Rupees to the Loan advertised in the Bombay Courier of the 21st January, 1809. Blank Numbers were left on the Bengal Register, for the reception of the transfers from the other Presidencies; and the Company offered to give a Promissory Note, when the Certificate was presented in September, 1809; which, if accepted by the Complainants, would be found to have been advertised to be paid off, (and the Interest thereon to have ceased) several months before it was issued.

If the Plaintiffs gain their cause, the whole of this Loan at Bombay, must be put on the Register of the Bengal Debt, in succession to all the 6 per cent. Loans; and consequently would not be paid off until the 6 per cent. Loans are discharged.

LOSS OF THE SHIP EUROPA.

The following letter respecting the lost of the country ship Europa is published by permission.

MASTER ATTENDANT'S OFFICE,
Point de Galle, August 19, 1812.

SIR,

I have the honor to acquaint you, for the information of His Excellency the Governor, that yesterday there anchored in this harbour a Maldiva boat, having on board a Mr. May and ten Lascars, part of the crew of the ship Europa.

Mr. May reports to me, that he embarked as Passenger on board the ship Europa, Captain Always, at the Isle of France, which place they left on the 28th of April with a Cargo of Sundries, for Batavia, and that on the 28th of May, they were wrecked on the Southern Group of the Maldiva Islands.

That all the Crew were saved; that the Island they were wrecked on was uninhabited; but that people came from the neighbouring Islands with boats, and carried every body to an inhabited Island, about 15 miles off, and from thence, they were carried to King's Island, where they have been supported by Government, and were well treated.

Mr. May states that there was but little saved from the Ship by the Crew, but what was saved, the Captain was allowed to bring on with him, and that the Islanders afterwards saved a number of Musquets and Pistols, which were in the Ship as Cargo, and which he understands the King has sent on, in the four Boats he had allotted for the Captain, Passengers, and Crew; of these Boats, which sailed together one was bound to Colombo, the other three to Galle, but one only has fetched in, the others were in sight, but to leeward and have probably made Belligam or Gandurah—in one of these Boats, is the Captain with Two Dutch Young Ladies (Sisters) of the name of Du Frankuemonte, who had been at the Isle of France, for their Education, and were returning to their Family and Freinds at Batavia, as also two Young Gentlemen (Brothers) of the name of Barbier, who had been sent from Batavia for the same purpose.

Mr. May speaks in the highest terms of the treatment they met with at the Maldivas.

The Europa, was a Bengal Ship, and had a valuable Cargo; both Ship and Cargo the property of a Mr. Douglas.

The number on board at the time the Ship was wrecked, including Captain, Passengers, and Crew, was forty-three; of which number, one Sekony only died at the Maldiva, the rest have been sent on, in these Boats, and the whole left the Maldivas on the 13th of this month.

I have the honor to be Sir,
Your most obediant Servant
W. C. GIBSON,
Master Attendant.

In addition to the above Intelligence we are happy to state that information has since been received of the arrival of the two Boats stated to have fallen to Leeward, in one of which was Captain Always late Commander of the Ship; and on the 19th the Boat bound for Colombo anchored in this harbour having on Board a Tindal and 9 Lascars; a Messenger from the Sultan likewise arrived in her, bearing a Letter for His Excellency the Governor.—Since the Island of Ceylon has been an appendage of the Crown of Great Britain it has been customary for the Sultan of the Maldivas to send annually an Embassy to this Government with a Letter and some trifling Presents, to which a suitable answer is return and a request made that the Sultan would afford aid to any British Ships touching at the Islands. A Present, consisting of a few articles of small value, accompanies the Letter to the Sultan.

Bengal Hurkaru, Sept. 12.

By letters from Allahabad, we learn, that His Excellency the Commander in Chief, his Family and Suite, were at that Station on the 3d instant.

In the North Western Frontier Stations, an unusual drought has prevailed—the paucity of the rains, and arid state of the atmosphere in these parts is often not compensated for, by the delightful cold weather prevalent between the Autumnal and the Vernal Equinox. At Rewarrie recourse has again been had to Tatties, and likewise at Loodniana.—At this last place, the heat has been greatly oppressive; during July there occurred only two days of rain, and from the 1st to the 23d of August, one shower fell, with close hazy weather, and dry heat incessant: a scarcity of grain is the result, Rice had risen to 10 seers, and flour 25 per rupees.
